LAST DAYS OF HERMIT KINGDOM

REPUBLICANS LINE UP FOR THE PRIMARIES

SAID PRESIDENT IS GOVERNMENT

PORTO RICAN APPLICANT FOR CITIZENSHIP WHO MIGHT HAVE QUALIFIED IN ROOSEVELT DAYS—IS GIVEN ANOTHER MONTH IN WHICH TO LEARN ABOUT AMERICAN FORM OF GOVERNMENT.

William Rodong, Porto Rican, this morning made his second unsuccessful effort to become a citizen of the United States. Judge Robertson had him up once before, but found him so nazy in his ideas of American government that Rodong was refused the privilege of being sworn in as a citizen. A few questions from the bench this morning developed the fact that Rodong still lacks a good deal of understanding what the heroes of the Revolution fought for.

"What is the American form of government?" was one question put to the would-be citizen.

"A president," was the reply. Judge Robertson didn't say anything about Roosevelt having ceased to run all the departments of the government, and there was no one present to explain for the Porto Rican that the President was no longer the government.

Rodong was given another chance. "What are the duties of the Congress of the United States?" he was asked.

"To elect a president," was the prompt reply of the Porto Rican, who evidently couldn't get away from Teddy.

The applicant was temporarily rejected. Judge Robertson disagreeing with the idea that the American form of government was a president elected by Congress. The application was set for further hearing in one month, by which time Rodong is expected to be better qualified to answer questions and show his fitness to vote in a Kaaka primary.

ENDORSED HUSTACE FOR MAYOR AFTER VERY LIVELY DISCUSSION

A very unexpected and lively rum-pus occurred at the meeting of the Republicans of the Fifth precinct, Fourth district, at Bailey's hall last evening. The attendance was unusually large and everything had been going on serenely up to eight o'clock, when the nominations having just been closed someone made a motion to adjourn.

"One moment, Mr. Chairman," said W. W. Chamberlain, "I have a resolution to offer, which I think very proper to present at this meeting." He then read the resolution which was to endorse the candidacy of Charles Hustace, Jr., for the nomination for mayor and to instruct the delegates from the precinct to vote for him in the convention.

Chairman Hustace withdrew from the chair and vice chairman Arthur Coyne put the motion.

Immediately Jack Lucas sprang forward and stormed against any such action. One minute he would vociferously shout his friendship for Hustace, and the next as vehemently denounce any such instruction of delegates to support him.

"How can you instruct delegates before they're elected?" he shouted. "I tell you I won't stand for railroading such a thing through. I'm for Hustace and will work heart and soul for him, but I'll be jiggered (and so on) if I'll stand for instructing the delegates for any man. No, siree, Jack won't do that!"

At this juncture Hustace came forward and explained that the resolution was an entire surprise to him and that in view of the objections just made, he would rather that the resolution be withdrawn. He said, however, that if the matter were not a personal one he would say that the precinct club had a perfect right to instruct their delegates before election. He thought too, that it was little enough for a precinct to do for its own resident candidate. But still he would ask to have the resolution dropped.

This did not suit Mr. Chamberlain and numerous others who cited precedents and argued the propriety of the resolution with a good deal of warmth. In every instance Lucas interrupted the speaker and repeated his objections to the fullest extent of his extensive vocabulary.

There were several other milder dissenters who debated the right of at this time instructing the delegates.

Mr. Chamberlain was backed up strongly in the fight of words which followed.

D. L. Withington, who had seconded the resolution, spoke in a conciliatory manner, saying that he believed the resolution perfectly in order and that while it might not be "expedient," still it would be all right to instruct the delegates. He chaffed Lucas and was warmly applauded, but the discussion continued quite as heated as before. It might still be going on but for the suggestion of someone that for peace sake the resolution be changed to read "that the voters assembled endorse the candidacy of Charles Hustace Jr. for mayor."

"All in favor, please rise," said Chairman Coyne.

And everybody jumped up—even Lucas.

But he wouldn't stand for instructing the delegates.

ADMIRAL SOUTHERLAND IS COMING HERE ON THE KOREA

Rear Admiral W. H. H. Southerland, who was captain of the battleship New Jersey when she was here with the Atlantic fleet three years ago, is a passenger on board the Pacific Mail liner Korea which is due to arrive from San Francisco on Monday morning. Admiral Southerland is coming to make an inspection of the naval station and marine barracks.

Since it was first reported that Admiral Southerland was coming here, rumors have been going around that it is more than likely that he will be ordered to relieve Admiral Rees as commandant after September 4.

Admiral Southerland has the distinction of being the only flag officer on the list of Rear Admirals who rose from the ranks. He was appointed to the navy as an apprentice boy on June 29, 1868. During his forty two years service he has been at sea in nearly every type of ship, having assumed the command of the New Jersey shortly before the Atlantic fleet started on its memorable trip around the world.

During his naval service Admiral Southerland has been at sea a little over twenty years, and ashore at navy yards and at the navy department for nearly twenty years. It is not known how long the distinguished visitor will take in inspecting the local yard, but he will probably be here for at least two weeks.

MUCH MARRIED WOMAN IS ARRESTED FOR BIGAMY

There is a Chinese puzzle developed by a case brought in the federal court today:

"A (w) marries B (k) in China. B (k) marries C in China without divorce from B.

"R (w) marries D (k) in Honolulu. "D (k) goes back to China, secures a divorce there by declaration.

A (w) in July 1910, marries E, who has a wife home in China. What are the respective relations of the hubbies?

"A" in this case represents Chang from.

Yoki Lin, a woman for whom a warrant for bigamy was issued today. Mrs. Lin, or whatever her name is, has supplied the most complicated relationship case that has yet appeared, and it will probably never be solved to the satisfaction of those concerned. All that is before the court is the fact that Mrs. Lin's last matrimonial venture resulted in a charge of bigamy. The various husbands and wives have not been heard from.

REPUBLICANS NOMINATE AND LIVELY PRECINCT CONTESTS ARE NOW ON

Republican precinct clubs had their nominating meetings last night in accordance with the party rules. In most of the precincts there was harmony, and delegates to the territorial and county conventions were chosen without contest. In two or three, however, there was a bitter warfare, and which will lead to lively campaigning for the votes next Saturday. Manoa, Kaimuki and Kakaako are the principal storm centers, and in each case the Lorrin Andrews controversy is at the bottom of the row.

In Manoa Andrews men and the other side put up two straight tickets. There was no talk of compromise, and both sides will work hard next week. Both now seem to expect to win. In Kaimuki E. A. Douthitt, president of the precinct club, addressed the club on the subject of reports that the ticket he was supporting was a "machine" ticket. He said that Ed Towse had been spreading such reports. Douthitt said that Towse had asked to be put on the ticket himself. Douthitt denied that he or the other members of his ticket were controlled by any machine. Towse in reply admitted having asked to be put on the ticket, and charged that Douthitt had said that Buffandeau must be consulted before Logan was put on the ticket. Emil Berndt said that he thought the omission of Logan's name had been unintentional, and that there was no machine ticket. Several prominent liquor men ap-

HOT SHOT FOR ADMINISTRATOR

MASTER'S REPORT IN THE ROE ESTATE CONTAINS HARSH CRITICISM OF ACCOUNTS.

Several very hard jolts for Charles R. Roe, as administrator of the estate of Annie K. Roe, are contained in the master's report filed this morning in the circuit court by John Marcallino. The master says that the total funds of the estate will not be enough to pay the claims of creditors, and he objects to several payments already made and advises that they be charged to the administrator. The first is an item of $640, which the administrator with the will annexed paid to his wife, as fees for nursing the deceased from 1905 to 1908. Marcallino says that the item is certified to by W. C. Roe, but that he is not satisfied that it is proper, and he recommends that it be charged to the administrator.

An item of $520, for the support of James Love, paid to Charles R. Roe, is similarly disapproved. The master says that the estate was left to W. C. Roe, "with the understanding that he take care of James Love," but that this does not justify the payment.

A claim of $216 against the estate of the late Henry Hogan for board, is also charged against the administrator. The master says that the administrator negligently failed to appear in court and prosecute the claim when the Hogan estate was settled.

JAPAN READY FOR REBELLION IF IT OCCURS

(Associated Press Cable to The Star.)

SEOUL, Korea, August 27.—It is announced that Terauchi will be made governor-general of Korea next Monday when the Japanese flag is to be raised in Korea. General Goto will, it is said, soon succeed him.

Military measures have been taken on an extensive scale to suppress any uprisings in Korea on the occasion of the change in flags. It is not thought that there is any considerable rebellion in prospect, but the Japanese authorities have taken every precaution to be able to handle the situation.

A formal announcement will be made by the Japanese government on the occasion of the taking over of the new territory, which will set forth the Japanese policy and the reasons for the action taken. While there is in Korea much resentment, it is believed that there will be no serious fighting on the occasion of the transfer of authority.

Honolulu Japanese are keenly interested in the great acquisition being made by their nation in the annexation of Korea, and news is anxiously awaited by them of the final completion of the Japanese programme. "It was inevitable, in the trend of events, that Korea should finally be made Japanese Territory," said Editor Sheba of the Hawaii Shinto this morning. This expression represents the "manifest destiny" feeling of most Japanese, who feel that their empire, in its natural course of development, had of necessity to oust China and Russia from Korea and make the country her own rather than let it become Russian or Chinese territory.

Terauchi has been resident governor of Korea for some time past, under the present scheme of Japanese occupation.
